Importance of Social Security by Gender, Race/Ethnicity, and Marital Status, 2010
Persons Aged 65 and Older in Beneficiary Families Relying on Social Security for 90 Percent or More of Their Income

Notes: Persons of Hispanic origin may be of any race. Estimates for Asian Alone are not shown because the sample represented fewer than 75,000 nonmarried men.
The survey on which these data are based does not include lump-sum pension payments and capital gains or noncash benefits that supplement money income.
